ANTIOCH PLANS BIG ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVANCE

Squad Will Fire Salute; Poorman to Talk; Merchants Close Stores

Led by the American Legion members of the community, Antioch citizens and school children will observe Armistice Day with an all-day program Monday.

The members of the community, following the silent tribute to the World War dead since the original Armistice, November 11, 1918, will face east in silent prayer at 11 o'clock and the Antioch Legion firing squad will fire a salute in front of the post office in honor of those who made the supreme sacrifice in the service of their country.

Close from 1 to 6

The Antioch businessmen will close their establishments from one o'clock till 6 o'clock as part of the observance in order to attend the afternoon program at 2 o'clock in the Antioch Township high school.

The principal address at the high school will be given by Jack Poorman of Chicago, former commander of the Legion, who will speak on "Americanism." Mr. Poorman is one of the outstanding members of the American Legion and both young and old will profit from hearing his address.

Honor "Gold Stars"

The Legion auxiliary members, as their part in the program, will honor the Gold Star Mother.

The high school band also has its spot on the program.

In discussing the Armistice Day plans with Dr. G. W. Jensen who is in charge of the program, he pointed out that one of the major activities of the Legionnaires is inculcating in the minds of American youths the correct ideas of true patriotism and citizenship—in other words Americanism.

Urges All to Attend.

"It is for this purpose that programs like that to be heard Monday afternoon are arranged for school children and to which people of all ages are invited. The American Legion believes that no American child should grow up to enjoy the freedom and opportunities in this country without thought of the thousands who have given their lives to perpetuate it," Dr. Jensen said.

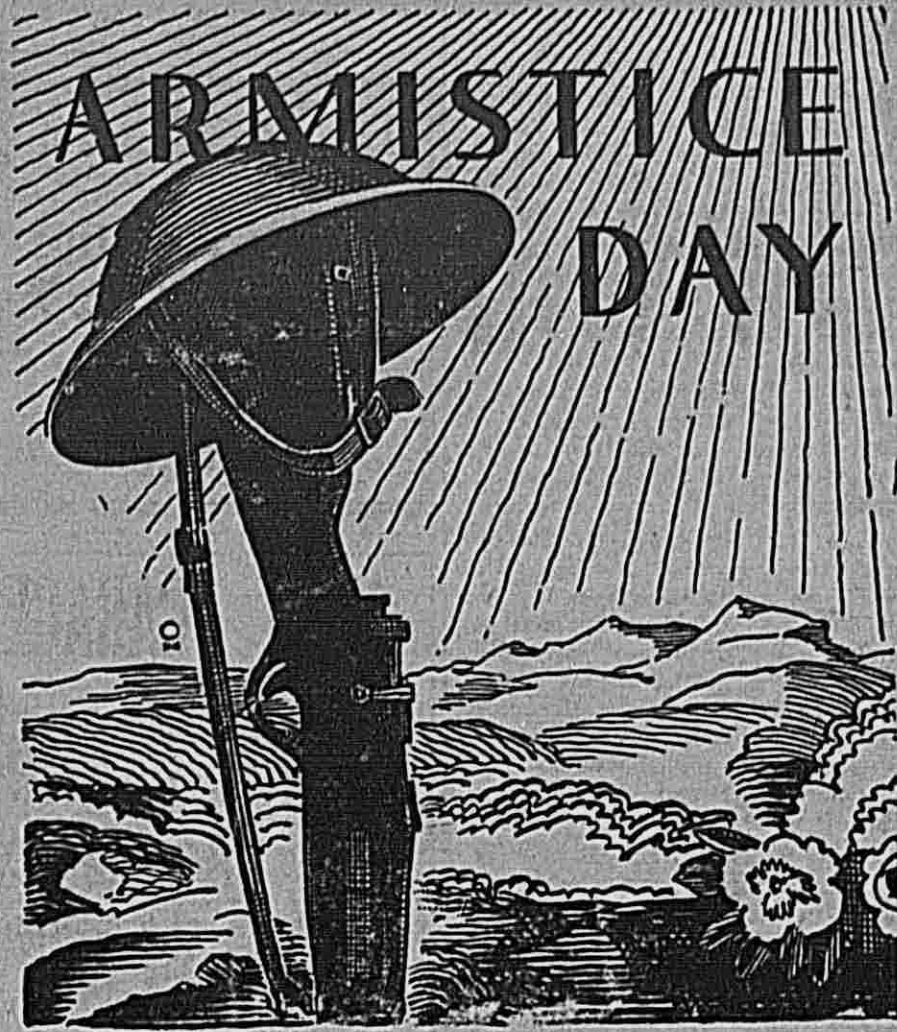

The general public is invited to attend the program and the Antioch businessmen, sharing the belief that everyone should attend, will close their stores for 5 hours between 1 and 6 o'clock.

Bids For Homestead Houses High; May Hold Up Contracts

Because the proposals for the construction of 50 homestead houses, bays and well houses in Lake County, appear to be too high, it may be necessary to re-advertise for bids. This was the opinion of Milton Frank, Washington representative of the federal rural rehabilitation and resettlement administration, who was present when the bids were opened in Libertyville this week. The bids have been sent to Washington for acceptance or rejection. Bids on the 4-room houses, of which 33 will be built in Lake County, ranged from $2,700 to $3,300; on the five-room houses the bids were from $22,700 to $35,500 and on the six room houses the range was between $3,100 and $4,200. There were seven bidders, all from Lake County and Chicago. If the bids are accepted it is expected that ground will be broken some time next week. The proposed homes are to be located on the 530 acres recently purchased by the government. Ten acres will be allotted to each homesteader.

Junior Red Crossers Praised by Children for Halloween Work

Many letters are being received by the boys and girls in the Lake County schools thanking them for the Halloween favors they sent to the Soldiers and Sailors orphan school at Normal, Illinois, last week, as their contribution in the Junior Red Cross work, announces Mrs. William Marks of Lake Villa, director of the work in the county's rural school area. Among the school children who participate in the activities are the pupils in the grade schools of Antioch, Lake Villa, Round Lake, Grayslake, Fox Lake and Gurnee as well as the Allendale school for boys and the girls' club of Warren township high school.

The affair has been a high spot on the firemen's calendar for the past five years and is given primarily for the fire district members and their wives together with village board members and their wives.

Students in the Farm Mechanics Course under supervision of their instructor, C. L. Kudli, have completed the construction of a potato and onion storage bin for the High School.

The bin has a slatted bottom, constructed in such a way so that the potatoes roll out by themselves through six sliding doors placed along the sides of the bin.

The onion storage is above the potatoes and has a one-inch mesh wire bottom. The storage room is well ventilated and both storage bins are built so that the air can circulate through the vegetables stored therein.

The bins will hold 115 bushels of potatoes and 16 bushels of onions. Students in both the Farm Mechanics and Soils and Crops classes are now planning their home projects for the year 1935-36. Some very interesting projects are already under way. Last year's projects are being completed this fall and the results will be published in this column.

The Home Economics club and the Antioch chapter of the Future Farmers of America will present a three-act mystery comedy on November 23 at the High School auditorium. Five girls and six boys comprise the cast in this new feature play. Mrs. Phillips is now training the cast.

Farm Mechanics classes have completed the following projects: (1) Conditioning of farm tools which included cleaning, sharpening and making of hammer, hatchet and axe handles. (2) Rope work which included knots, splices, hitches, and making of rope and halters. (3) Carpentry projects, which have taken several variations. Some of the projects in this last exercise are: construction of tables, poultry mash hoppers, vegetable storage bins, show kits, wool tying box, vegetable crates, roadside marketing signs and many others.

Leaves for Florida Home.

Charles E. Van Patten left yesterday for his winter home in Leesburg, Florida, where he has many friends and relatives, including Carl Paddock, nephew, who is in the postal service in Leesburg's new $80,000 federal building; also Mrs. Mary E. Paddock, mother of the late Mrs. Van Patten, who has passed her 94th birthday. The Antioch News, which Mr. Van Patten has read for nearly 50 years, will go to him each week at Leesburg.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE DRIVE TO BE STARTED SOON

Rapid and substantial progress in preparation for the opening of the annual sale of Christmas seals on Thanksgiving was reported by the County Tuberculosis Association today.

More than 12,000 letters containing an appeal for funds and enclosing 200 Christmas Seals are again being prepared by the Illinois Tuberculosis Association at Springfield. By having the State Association prepare this mail for all the large counties a great saving is possible for each local Association.

Moved to action by the growing need for extra contributions, Board members of the association are busy making ready appeals to friends "to give a little more in 1935."

Letters concerning "Thanks for Health" Sunday and the Thanksgiving programs for all elementary and high schools in the County are ready for mailing now.

A request for permission to hold a Tag Day December 21 for the benefit of the Association has been requested of every town in the county. Christmas Seals will be sold in booths in Waukegan, Highland Park and Lake Forest to reach the many people who desire seals in small amounts.

The monthly chest clinics depend upon a successful Seal Sale in 1935. If they are to be increased from one to two a month in the coming year. More requests for chest examinations at every clinic make it imperative that the clinics be held more frequently.

The County Tuberculosis Association seeks to spread information concerning the symptoms and care of tuberculosis to every portion of the county; to bring into every home the consciousness that tuberculosis is preventable and curable if located in the early stages. Tuberculosis is a community responsibility.

Christmas Seals alone finance the work.

The chairman in the Lakes region are Mrs. W. W. Warriner, Antioch; Mrs. William Marks, Lake Villa; Mrs. Howard Scott, Fox Lake; C. Jung, Round Lake; and F. Valenta, Ingleside.

ANTIOCH ON SPOT BY CHICAGO PLAN OF EASTERN TIME

Waukegan to Follow Lead as Rural Regions Voice Protest

Antioch has been put on the spot by the act of Chicago in approving Eastern Standard Time for their city, which is just another way of saying: Year around daylight-saving time.

According to the plan, Chicago will put their time one hour ahead on March 1, and keep it there from that date on. Already north shore towns of Lake County, including the county seat, Waukegan, have indicated that they will follow Chicago's lead and put their clock ahead an hour.

As Antioch residents are affected by the change in every direction they turn, the entire citizenry will have to be twinned with two watches and clocks in order to get along. And those in the rural areas will have to change the entire habits of the barnyard animals (who never heard of daylight-saving), the rising of the sun, besides warning Mother Nature to turn off the dew-making machinery an hour earlier so they can go to work, etc.

The state of Wisconsin has legislated against any daylight saving time ideas, which means that Antioch with its situation on the state line and its trading center in Kenosha as well as Waukegan will be more than inconvenienced.

Inquiry on the subject around the community discloses that as a whole, the people of Antioch feel that the eastern time will be a regular nuisance. They can bear it in the summer for business reasons, but you can't change Nature or her time as a permanent basis.

Coyotes Join Refrain as "Cowboy" Anderson Serenades Mormon Area

Salt Lake City, Utah, (U.S.M.)—Charles "Cowboy" Anderson of Antioch by serenading a pack of lonesome coyotes last week broke the silence of Emigration Canyon of the Wasatch range near the town that the Mormons built. He has been making an extended tour of the western states accompanied by his dog, a couple of extra shirts, a saddle a horse blanket and a guitar which he was strumming while warbling. Reports indicate that the coyotes howled boisterously in a weird falsetto. The dog killed one coyote and is now in danger of being adopted by the Plute Indians. "Cowboy" states that he is bound for Arizona and Old Mexico next.

JAMBOREE DRAWS OVER 150 KIDS

Halloween Party for School Children Has Real Costume Competition

The rainy weather failed to put a damper on the second annual Halloween jamboree held last week and brought joy to more than 150 school children of Antioch and the neighboring community.

Through the cooperation of 18 businessmen, 20 prizes were awarded to the best costumes in the group and there was every variety of "get-up" imaginable. The judges were in favor of giving everyone a prize.

WEDDING SQUIRES BOO ALFORD'S LID ON THEIR RACKET

Waukegan Justices Cry as New County Clerk Stops Famous Marriage Mill

Because Russ Alford kept his campaign promise to stop the well-known marriage mill racket that was sponsored by several Waukegan justices of the peace in co-operation with the county clerk's office, the "marrying squires" and others who thrived on marriageable couples are looking for something new to "earn a living" and blame Alford for putting the clamp on their racket.

The conscientious objectors point to last week-end's drop in the marriage business when Alford closed the clerk's office and refused to issue licenses. The clerk's office shows that 20 couples were licensed from 8 a. m. to 12 noon Saturday. But the justices shout that the business over the week-end has been drawing from 50 to 100 in the past 20 years when licenses could be had at any hour of the day and night.

Figures Are Figures.

Using the objectors' figures, investigation shows that an average of 75 couples would mean that 3,900 licenses were issued on the 52 week-ends of 1934. Approximately 1,000 couples are estimated to have come from Lake County in the ordinary course of the year. On this basis, as advanced by the marriage mill supporters, only about 1,100 couples were licensed on all the other days during the year as the clerk's records reveal that 6,245 licenses were issued during the entire year of 1934.

According to the records in the clerk's office, however, only about 20 per cent of the marriage license business comes after normal office hours, which means that the objectors to Alford are exaggerating the extent of their marrying business, or the records of the county clerk's office for 1934 are not correct. The clerk's records mean that the county will lose less than $1,000 and nothing of the purported $120,000 marriage mill receipts, if all the figures scattered around the premises of Waukegan and the court house can be believed.

Merchants Not Interested.

The Antioch News, in seeking an expression of the Waukegan Chamber of Commerce on the "amount of money businessmen would lose by Alford's act of stopping the marriage mill," learned that the members of the Chamber are taking no part in this "political squabble." It was intimated, however, that the merchants as a whole could not possibly benefit off the "after hours marriages" because their stores were generally closed.

The outspoken objectors, it was learned, came mainly from the number one "marrying squire," Justice of the Peace Henry F. Wallenwein; Bruno Henderson, a jeweler; cab-drivers; marriage hustlers, other justices of the peace, etc.

Many Waukegan businessmen pointed out that while it made little difference in their receipts whether or not the mill operated and that they wanted no part of the squabble, County Clerk Alford was carrying out his campaign pledge and "so what's the argument!"

THE WEAKNESS IN "SOAKING THE RICH"

There is one grave fallacy in any "soak-the-rich" plan that should receive more discussion and understanding.

The accumulated wealth which the "soak-the-rich" advocates wish to confiscate IS NOT IN CASH.

If the holdings of a multi-millionaire industrialist, for example, were represented by cash in the bank, or quickly negotiable securities, it would be a simple enough matter to tax them fifty, sixty, seventy or eighty per cent. The injustice of such a policy would still remain—but it could be done.

As a matter of fact, the fortune held by this super-industrialist includes very little "ready money." It consists of factories, office buildings, manufacturing plants of one kind or another. These assets are at work producing jobs, needed goods and services and, possibly, dividends for many other stockholders.

If this man's holding is outrageously taxed, either in income or inheritance levies, the only way he or his estate can pay is to sell these industrial holdings at forced-sale values. Factories may be closed, men thrown out of work—for the value of machinery and other plant equipment cannot be expressed entirely in dollars. The machine, for example, that makes shoes may have a market value of ten thousand dollars—yet be the means of providing jobs whose economic importance dwarfs this sum.

Big fortunes are working fortunes. They are the fortunes that provide the capital that is essential to every productive undertaking. They are the fortunes that carry industry through bad times as well as good—and absorb a loss, even while keeping men at work and wheels turning. The whole history of American industrialism proves this.

"Soak the rich" and you soak everyone. You strike directly at every pocketbook. You invite unemployment, industrial distress, bankruptcies. And you prolong depression.

SAFEGUARD OUR REPUBLIC

In an address directed against political attacks on our Constitution, which is the chief safeguard of our Republic, Colonel Robert R. McCormick, Chicago publisher, said:

"One State has passed a law making illegal the free exercise of religion and the Supreme Court of the United States has declared this law to be unconstitutional. Do you want the Supreme Court made powerless to invalidate another such law?"

"One State has passed a law denying the right of freedom of speech and of the press, and the Supreme Court of the United States has declared this law unconstitutional. Do you want to take from the Supreme Court the power to invalidate another such law?"

"One State has passed a law to take property from you without compensation, and the Supreme Court has declared this law to be unconstitutional. Do you want the Supreme Court rendered powerless to invalidate another such law?"

"It is in the Constitution, set up by the people themselves, limiting the powers of government and preserving the rights of the citizens, that we Americans tower above the people of other countries."

"Where the people of other lands live under hereditary rulers or dictators who have usurped autocratic power by force, fraud and massacre, we live together under these written agreements made with each other which preserve the rights of the innocent from the machinations of the unscrupulous; those of the weak from the oppression of the strong; those of the minority from the prejudices and passions of the majority, the liberties of private citizens from the tyranny, abuse and robbery of those who wield the powers of government."

YOU DON'T HAVE TO KNOW ANYTHING

It doesn't take brains to push the throttle of your car to the floorboard.

It doesn't take cleverness to weave in and out of traffic at sixty miles an hour to the consternation of the slower moving highway-users.

It doesn't take any intellectual capacity to hang onto the steering wheel, give her the gun, and see if you can make the speedometer touch ninety-odd.

In other words, you don't have to know anything to drive fast.

TREVOR

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Letzer, Chicago, called at the Pete Schumacher home Tuesday.

Mrs. Will Yopp, Grass Lake, spent Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. Louise Derler.

Mrs. Alfred Dahl, Mrs. Jessie Allen, Mrs. Charles Oetting and Mrs. Joe Burke were Kenosha visitors Tuesday.

Mrs. William Evans and daughter, Marguerite, called on Mrs. Polly Shott, Bristol, and on their daughter and sister, Mrs. George Rohnow and family, Pleasant Prairie, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Joseph Smith entertained her 500 club of four tables on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Charles Oetting will be hostess to the club this Wednesday afternoon.

The Mothers' Club entertained the school children and a large gathering at the hall on Thursday evening. The hall was decorated with black cats, a witch, a ghost, pumpkin and corn stalks. Cake and coffee were served. Father Finan, Wilmot, was a Trevor caller Wednesday.

The Willing Workers met at Social Center hall on Thursday and tied four corners. A pot luck dinner was served at noon, and cake, sandwiches and coffee enjoyed for lunch. Mrs. Jacob Drom, Antioch, will entertain the society in two weeks. Officers for the coming year were elected, as follows:

Drivers who regard streets and highways as the Indianapolis bowl, might be divided into two classes: First, those who are weary of living and don't mind if they take innocent parties along with them into eternity. Second, those who are so stupid as to not realize that several thousand pounds of metal moving at terrific speeds is as lethal a weapon as a machine-gun—both for the occupant and for anyone else who happens to be in the locality.

Speed—and speed alone—is responsible for the great majority of automobile accidents. All other causes pale into insignificance beside it. As even the most mentally deficient driver should be able to realize, an accident occurring at sixty miles per hour is almost invariably more serious than one occurring at 20.

The roads of America are strewn with corpses because a relatively small number of drivers are doing their best to emulate Malcolm Campbell.

FARM RELIEF THAT MEANS SOMETHING

There seems to be no end to the various schemes proposed for "farm relief."

Friends of the AAA claim it is the perfect medicine. Those who believe in the departed Federal Farm Board regret that it has gone. A legion of others put in periodic appearances with farm relief ideas that are new and novel.

It is true that government should do all it can, within the realm of practicality and sound economics, for agriculture. It is also true that government has achieved the best result when it has helped farmers to help themselves, rather than simply doling out money for nothing.

Government, for instance, has aided in the development of farm cooperatives, and fine things have been done. These cooperatives, most of which are now solid on their financial feet, are bringing the farmer many benefits. They show him how to better his crops—how to operate more efficiently—how to balance supply and demand—how to get a fairer share of the final selling price of his products. They are putting millions in the farmers' pocket—millions that are honestly and intelligently earned.

That's the kind of "farm relief" that means something.

What is President Roosevelt's basic economic philosophy? Here is how Business Week tersely expressed it: "No large profits, no speculative profits whatever, elimination of big surpluses ('sterile accumulations'), raising little fellows and pulling down big ones toward new broad, common level—with planned economy under governmental control just over the horizon. All except the planned economy to be accomplished largely through taxes—on incomes, inheritances, corporations."

Principal political question of the hour, naturally, is whether or not the people want such a program, whether Mr. Roosevelt can again roll into office with plaudits of his countrymen ringing in his ears.

Practically every observer now admits that the President has lost ground. No one knows how much ground. Most think greatest slippage in Roosevelt popularity has occurred in the extremely important territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio. Democratic Senators and representatives from states within that area, who have counted on Roosevelt prestige to pull them through the 1936 battle, are said to be extremely worried.

The Literary Digest, it is rumored, will conduct another major poll—it has never been wrong yet. A smaller poll was recently conducted by Digest editors, was not made public because they believed its scope too narrow. However, several thousand ballots were taken, and results showed a remarkable drop in Roosevelt strength.

THE AMERICAN SCHOOL

During next week parents and citizens throughout the nation study their schools and seek to make them better—it is American Education Week!

So the next time you pass a school pause a moment to think what that school means to humanity.

Recall the long dark centuries when the masses were kept in ignorance—when greed and oppression ruled the world with an iron hand.

From the very beginning of man's struggle for knowledge, self-respect, and the recognition of his inalienable rights, the school has been his greatest ally.

We refer to the school as "common" because it belongs to all of us; it is ourselves working together in the education of our children.

But it is a most uncommon institution. It is relatively new. It is democracy's greatest gift to civilization.

Throughout the world, among upward struggling people, wherever parents share in the aspirations of their children, the American common school is being copied. Let us cherish and improve our schools.

The race climbs upward through its children.

HIDDEN VALUE!

It takes an expert to recognize and appreciate the fabulous value of an old violin made by a master craftsman. But any farmer who USES his telephone realizes the great value that is hidden in that every-day business aid. One call may result in a large extra profit, or a saving on a purchase. It may bring the veterinarian to save the life of a valuable farm animal, or the fire department to prevent ruinous damage to home and buildings. You never know when a call is going to be worth many times the cost of service. Yet, no matter how much it saves or earns, the telephone costs only the same small sum.

Observe St. Stephen's Day

Since the Middle Ages peasants have each year to Budapest to celebrate St. Stephen's day. At this festival dignitaries of church and state, attired in medieval splendor and gala uniforms march in solemn procession through the city carrying the preserved right hand of St. Stephen in a golden shrine. The many-colored costumes of the paraders make this march a fantastic display.

News of By-gone Years in Western Lake County

Forty Years Ago

New sheds have been erected in the rear of Webb Bros. & Perkins, A. P. Ames & Sons and Sibley Bros. places of business for the benefit of the public.

Henry Herman and Cornelius Coon had a little matinee at the driving park last Thursday. Morley drove for Herman but Coon pulled his own ribbons, and the Herman horse was declared winner. A small prize was put up by enthusiastic sports, who were dying for a "hoss" race.

Someone, who had no fear of the hereafter, relieved Hermy Bock of his potato crop recently. Mr. Bock had sacked them ready for removal from the field to the cellar and the thieves moved them for him, sacks and all. A dose of shot would be a good thing for such sneak thieves.

A disgraceful exhibition of reckless horse driving was given on our streets Sunday evening, just as people were returning from church.

Twenty Years Ago

Percy Chinn and Arthur Rosenfeld were Chicago passengers Monday.

C. F. Richards and daughter, Edna, were Chicago passengers Friday.

This season seems somewhat turned around. As an indication that Spring is here, Edwin Garwood is exhibiting violets and Mayflowers which he picked by the side of the road Tuesday. The chilly wind of Wednesday, however, soon destroyed all hopes of an early spring.

J. R. Cribb, who has conducted a shoe store here for the past few years, has disposed of his stock to F. H. Rhodes, who will conduct both shoe stores for the present time.

The number of typhoid cases, instead of diminishing as was hoped, has gained considerably the last week. There are six new cases within the last few days, all under the care of trained nurses.

Ten Years Ago

Blizzard Stops Tourist Travel
Antioch on Saturday had its second winter spell. The blizzard that arrived in the afternoon stopped all travel in this vicinity, as it was impossible to get very far with the snow and rain to fight. Many accidents were recorded along the North Shore, but none have been learned of around Antioch.

Frank Dunn was at Lake Geneva the forepart of the week looking at Lake property.

Mrs. Carrie Wilton and son, Robert, were in attendance at a Masonic banquet held at Waukegan Wednesday evening.

The Parent-Teachers association held their first meeting Monday evening at the grade school. A very fine program was given by the grade school pupils. Dr. F. S. Morell gave a very interesting talk on the care of the teeth. The attendance was very good.

PLEATS AND DRAPES
IN GRECIAN STYLE

Soft Silks and Sheers Adapted to Classic Mode.

Women today look like goddesses in the style parade of soft, supple silks and silk sheers which are draped, shirred and pleated in a Grecian style.

The classic Greek silhouette is particularly adaptable to our day and age. The women of Greece had magnificent forms. Athletics were a ritual. Power, grace, freedom of movement were sought in the mode. A philosophic art imparted a look of calm dignity. Athletic young women today who scorn the waspish waists and prouetting skirts of our cover modes can alternate the new draped mode of Grecian inspiration with their sweater and skirts and military suitcases. Older women, too, find the draped theme adds, charms, softens and dignifies. The draped fashion is one of true individuality, hiding defects, enhancing our good points and flattering the entire figure.

Fabric has new importance in the modes. Supple silks that drape peerlessly, shir softly, and flatter five pounds off the figure are queen of the mode. The Greeks had a word for it which interpreted in today's fashions means the "sculptural" dress with classic folds and shirring.

Velvety silk sheers, gleaming silk laces, silk satins classical in white or pale blue, novelty silk crepes, supple silk velvet, silk chiffons and gauzy metal silk sheers are all part of the sculptured mode.

Women today are looking like Greek goddesses in gowns of soft silks with bodices which are softly draped and folded across the front and easily bloused in back. Silk evening gowns of this persuasion are flowing in line, with fullness coming from the waistline and spreading softly around the ankles. Sometimes the skirts themselves are draped around up to one hip, and caught there by bows, clusters of shirring or buckles which accent the draped movement.

Bird Banding Old

Bird marking, either by small pieces of parchment or small discs, was practiced in the Eighteenth century.

LAKE VILLA

Mrs. George Helm who has been suffering from an infected foot and gall bladder trouble, is improving.

The P. T. A. of our local school is sponsoring a public card party at the school on Friday evening, Nov. 8, and tables for bridge and 500 will be provided, and refreshments served. Good prizes.

Mrs. E. L. DeSelms and daughters attended a party at Evanston on Thursday evening last week in honor of the wives and families of pastors who are attending Barrett Biblical Institute there.

Mrs. C. C. Frye and infant daughter, Sandra, returned home from Victory Memorial hospital last Friday evening and both are doing splendidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Martin returned late last week from a very pleasant trip into the Dakotas.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold a rummage sale in Waukegan on Saturday, Nov. 16, and anything in the way of clothing or furniture which you can spare, will be greatly appreciated. Contributions may be left at the Ladies' Aid room or at Mrs. H. H. Perry's home, as she has it in charge.

The German-American club enjoyed a hard times party at the village hall on Saturday night and costumes showed various stages of hard times. Oscar Douglas who is employed in Waukegan was home Saturday and Sunday with his family here, and Mr. and Mrs. Mocco and two daughters of Waukegan came down with him this week-end to visit the Douglas family. Mrs. Mary Peterson, mother of Henry and Will Peterson of our village, underwent an operation for gall stones at the Lake County general hospital late last week and is recovering nicely.

Lake Villa was well represented at the county convention of Royal Neighbors at Deerfield on Wednesday of last week, and more than twenty of the local camp were present to help exemplify the work of the order.

The Woman's Club of Lake Villa met at Higgins' cottage at Allendale on Tuesday afternoon for its regular meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Patrick of Randolph, Wis., with their small daughter, also Miss Bertha Sebor of Waukegan visited their father, Will Sebor, here on Sunday.

Dr. E. C. Nehls, who has conducted a dental office here for more than two years, has closed his office here and opened one in Grayslake where he will be glad to see his old patients as well as new ones. We are sorry to lose Dr. Nehls, but hope that he will be very happy in his new location.

The Royal Neighbors' Officers club met at the Ladies' Aid room on Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Swanson and Mrs. Florence Peterson as hostesses. Bridge and 500 were played after the business meeting.

Lake Villa Community church held home-coming and dedication services last Sunday to celebrate the completion of its recent improvements. Heavy rain from early morning kept away many who would otherwise have been present, but in spite of the rain, a number of out of town visitors were present, among them being the new district superintendent, Rev. E. T. Stephenson of Evanston, Rev. W. L. Manny and family of Elgin, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Mitchell of Libertyville, C. Harbaugh, Harold Harbaugh and son of Highland Park, Miss Master-son and Rev. and Mrs. Gates of Grayslake, Miss Belle Richards, C. F. Richards of Antioch, Mrs. Hendricks of Ingleside, Mr. and Mrs. J. Denman of Millburn, Mrs. Emily Nelson, Clifford Nelson, Miss Olive Nelson, Mrs. L. Manzer and Evelyn Swanson of Waukegan. Rev. DeSelms preached at 11 o'clock following the Sunday school service, and dinner was served in the dining room below to nearly one hundred people who thoroughly enjoyed it. At 3 o'clock the dedication service took place. Mrs. Mapleshorpe of Antioch and Miss Lois Tschappatt of Grayslake furnished a delightful program of music. Mrs. C. Hamlin gave a short history of the local church and Rev. Stephenson delivered a short address preceding the dedication service in which Rev. Manny, a former pastor, Rev. Gates and Rev. DeSelms assisted. Letters were read from a number who could not be present. The decorations supervised by Mrs. Swanson were beautiful and added much. Lake Villa is justly proud of its church improvements, and it is hoped that it will also mean improvement to the mental and spiritual condition of all who participate in its services. The Pastor invites you to be present at the services of next Sunday. Sunday school at 10 and morning worship at 11 o'clock.

Lake's Names Changed

The region known as Crater Lake National park, Oregon, has known several different names since it was first explored by whites. Deep blue lake was the first designation bestowed upon it by the palefaces. The choice was certainly descriptively accurate. Not even the storied Mediterranean is more intensely azure. Mystery lake succeeded this title—another appropriate selection. Lake Majesty was later chosen as its name. Ever since 1893 however, when a party of pioneers visited this Oregon wonderland, the waters have been known as Crater lake.

Bit of Swedish Pride

John Ericsson, inventor of the "Monitor" of Civil war fame, was born at Langbanshyttan, Sweden, and is buried at Filipstad nearby where two cannon from the Monitor keep guard over his grave.

Organized Crime Old

Organized crime is not new. Fifty years ago Chicago had several hundred pickpockets, few of whom ever spent a day in jail in a decade because they were never caught with the loot, having passed it to a confederate. Each telephoned his attorney every hour. Failure to do so meant he was arrested, and his lawyer would immediately appear with a writ of habeas corpus and obtain his release, sometimes as often as three times a day.—Collier's Weekly.

A Tail-Piece

The harvest mouse is the only member of the mouse family that can grasp things with its tail in the same way as the monkey does. This kind of tail is called "prehensile." The harvest mouse is the one that makes nests among the cornstalks.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Probation After Death" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 27.

The Golden Text was, "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him" (James 1:12).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "If the clouds be full of rain, they empty themselves upon the earth: and if the tree fall toward the south, or toward the north, in the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be" (Ecclesiastes 11:3).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science text book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be." So we read in Ecclesiastes. This text has been transformed into the popular proverb, "As the tree falls, so it must lie." As man falleth asleep, so shall he awake. As death is but a mortal man, so shall he be after death, until probation and growth shall effect the needed change" (p. 201).

NATION WILL SAVE ITS HISTORIC SITES

Preservation of Landmarks Adopted as a Policy.

Washington.—Preservation of historic sites, buildings and other landmarks along the paths traveled by the men and women who created a nation on this continent has been declared for the first time to be a national policy, and provision made by congress to rescue and restore for the inspiration and benefit of the American people such significant reminders of their heroic past.

Under the broad terms of two bills, one of which already has become law and the other of which appears assured of enactment before congress adjourns, it is hoped to rescue and restore such survivals as the Spanish missions in the southwest, Derby Wharf and other sites and buildings in Old Salem, Mass., built in Colonial times, and beautiful antebellum plantation homes in South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi, which are in daily increasing danger of destruction.

The Hermitage plantation on the Savannah river, described as "one of the priceless historical heirlooms of this country" was disturbed recently to make way for an industrial plant. The buildings were purchased by Henry Ford and removed to another site owned by him at Richmond, Va.

Old Homes May Be Torn Down.

At Portsmouth, N. H., are fine old examples of early American homes not as yet endangered but are in the old part of town where, unless measures are taken to preserve them, they are certain soon to be torn down.

And in the West and Middle West, along the Oregon Trail, and the route of the Pony Express and the Overland Stage are the sites and survivals of pioneer posts and events.

It is desired to preserve and restore, in Wyoming, Fort Laramie and Fort Bridger, and to protect Register Cliff in the southern part of the state on the sand stone sides of which are inscribed the names, with dates, of many of the 60,000 pioneers who passed that way in the thirties and forties and of whom in some cases, these are the only surviving records.

The signatures, now in danger of erasure and erosion, can be stabilized for the benefit of future historians and genealogists, and all others interested in the recreation of sights and scenes of those early days.

All these and many other antiquities of national significance are to be surveyed, evaluated and acquired.

Wide Survey Proposed.

Under the terms of a bill which has passed both the senate and house and is assured of enactment before congress adjourns, the secretary of the interior is instructed to make an intensive expert nation-wide survey to determine the existence and exceptional value of places and properties of interest as commemorating or illustrating the history of the United States, preliminary to their acquisition, when authorized by gift, purchase or otherwise.

In this work the secretary is to be assisted by a general advisory board of not to exceed 11 qualified experts appointed by him to serve without salary in co-operation with the staff of the historical division of the National Park service.

Another bill, already enacted, provides for a National Park trust fund board to accept and administer gifts or bequests of properties to the National Park service which is charged with the duty of preserving and restoring national monuments.

Mysterious Images.

No one seems able to solve the mystery of the numerous stone images on Easter Island. In the Pacific ocean some scientists believe them to be images of old-time gods, while others think they represent chieftains. Their age is estimated to be between 2,500 and 5,000 years.

1936 Master De Luxe and Standard Chevrolets are Replete with New Features

New Master De Luxe and Standard Chevrolets for 1936 show marked advances in appearance and in engineering. Perfected hydraulic brakes, high-compression engines with full-length water jackets, and balanced carburetion are among the mechanical improvements. The solid steel Turret Top Fisher body is now used on the Standard as well as the Master De Luxe models.

Longest Train on Dress

The longest train ever worn on a dress. It is believed, graced the gown of Catherine the Great of Russia at her coronation in St. Petersburg in 1762. It was 225 feet in length and required 50 train bearers to support it.—Elizabeth L. Dowden, Cranford, New Jersey, in Collier's Weekly.

Industrial Fruits

Industrial fruits are those products of the soil which are sown and planted and upon reaching maturity are gathered or harvested, such as grain, vegetables and other fruits. They are distinct from the natural fruits, such as trees, grass, etc., and are considered as personal and not real property.

Wine Making Found to Date Back to 7000 B. C.

Paris.—Noah was not the first wine grower. Far from it, according to Rene Dage and Alban Aribaud, respectively, French wine experts, who after searching for new light on the history of the grape in Egypt and elsewhere, have delivered their report.

Noah dated from somewhere between 3761 B. C. and 2105 B. C. Bacchus was real or a myth between 1500 B. C. and 1000 B. C. But the Egyptians were making wine in 7000 B. C., the investigators show, while the cave-men of latter Stone age days could have done it first if they had known how, and it is more than likely they did. Thus the first wine might have dated from 10000 B. C.

The investigators found that the earliest traces of the grape vine date to the cenozoic era among the dicotyledone and the magnoliaceae. Fossil prints show them with the pointed leaves of the species known in French vineyards today as American vines.

There is none of the 7000 B. C. vintages left except in dried form at the bottom of clay wine jars, and analysis of this dust has not produced any idea of its flavor.

National Anthem Copy

Treasured Above Money

Philadelphia.—W. Ward Beam still refuses to part with his treasured first-edition of "The Star-Spangled Banner," only two other copies of which are in existence.

Recently he was asked to sell the copy at his own price to Oliver Strunk, chief of the music division of the Library of Congress. He refused.

Beam's grandfather left him a copy of the edition 53 years ago, but he did not realize its value until 1918.

Other copies are in the Library of Congress and the Library of the Maryland Historical society, Baltimore.

Meaning of "S. P. C. A."

S. P. C. A. is the abbreviation for Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The HEADLINES Say:

Engineered right into the car is every proven engineering feature, such as hydraulic brakes, knee action wheels and the solid steel "turret top" body by Fisher. Only Small Pot Needed for Plant in House

(By Frank K. Balthis, Horticulturist with the famous Garfield Park Conservatory.)

Virtually any plant can be grown in the house, but some are better for the purpose than others. The dry atmosphere in rooms now is vastly different than when grandmother kept the old kettle steaming on the stove. Modern rooms are 5 per cent drier than the desert, the air is filled with small particles of dust which clog up the breathing pores (plants do have breathing pores in the leaves, many millions of them on a single leaf). The best kinds of plants to grow under such conditions are those with thick, leathery leaves, such as the rubber plant, bowstring hemp and corn plant, or cacti, century plants and other succulents.

Transplant April 1.

Transplant house plants when the buds on the trees outdoors begin to swell or along about April 1. Many plants remain semi-dormant or at rest during winter and should not be repotted until they show signs of activity in springtime. Repot cacti in spring and keep them in pots all summer, plunging the pots in the ground or rockery.

Never over-pot but keep house plants in as small a container as possible. Plants in large tubs should be top-dressed by having some of the old soil from the top of the pot removed and new, rich soil used to replace it. A good soil from the garden, mixed with well rotted manure (about one-fourth), one part leaf mold and a small amount of torpedo sand, will grow the average plant. Persons living in cities should buy soil, ready mixed, to suit the kind of plant to be potted, from the florist. Palms and geraniums take a heavier soil than that used for begonias, the poinsettia and similar plants.

Use Water When Needed.

The home gardener who learns how to water her plant is on the way to success. The question is always asked, "When should a potted plant be watered?" Water all plants when they need water. Look each plant over each day and if it requires water give it plenty.

Feed house plants when they are in active growth, or during late spring on. Feeding a resting plant is like giving a sick animal a great quantity of food—neither can enjoy it and remain in good health. Commercial fertilizers are excellent, but a small quantity goes a long way.

Syringe plants about once each week to remove dust and to cause a halo of moisture to surround them. Syringing is not watering, but simply forcing water over the foliage and stems by pressure of the fingers.

Guard Against Insects. Watch for insects at all times, and at their first appearance attack them. For sucking insects like the Green Fly, use a tobacco extract and apply it with an atomizer. It takes very little, but each fly must be covered.

Some house plants do better in certain windows. Here are a few that do well in the north windows: Iron plant (Aspidistra), Boston fern, holly fern, rex begonia and those with ornamental leaves, corn plant (Dracena), philodendron (a vine), English Ivy and Wandering Jew (Tradescantia).

Those which do well in east windows: Pandanus (screw pine); palms, such as the thatch palm, date palm, feather palm; sedums, begonias, fuchsia in season; primroses, cyclamen and bulbs in season.

South Best in Winter.

Practically all plants will do best during winter in a south window. During summer the sun is too hot for many plants, such as the begonias, ferns, and plants with similar foliage.

The ten best foliage plants for the home: Rubber plant (Ficus elastica); iron plant (Aspidistra); variegated or green leaved bowstring hemp (Sansevieria); corn plant (Dracena); spider plant (Chlorophytum—the variegated variety is best); screw pine (Pandanus); Boston fern; thatch palm (Kentia); date palm, cacti and other succulents, and asparagus fern (Asparagus plumosus nanus).

Plants that flower cannot be expected to flower continuously and if wanted for a fine display should be considered as one does a bouquet and discard them when the flowers have faded. Bulbous plants make fine flowering plants and should be used as such. Begonias in variety are excellent. The touch-me-not plant (Impatiens) flowers almost constantly and is easy to increase.

Avoid Sudden Drop. Geraniums should be propagated in July if they are to flower during winter. Geraniums that have been growing outdoors during summer are not good for winter use.

Fowering greenhouse plants obtained from the florist should be kept well watered and away from sudden drafts as they have been growing in moist, warm greenhouses and at best last only a short time.

Among the interesting plant curiosities that are rare or unusual that may be grown indoors are the following: Sprouting lent (Bryophyllum); Dev-

CHIC TOWN SUIT

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A fur bloused jacket completes many of Worth's smartest town suits. Brown beaver and black wool velours is a favorite combination. For the model pictured the alliance of brown and black is worked out to a nicety. The black velvet "flower-pot" hat is filled in on top with upstanding cock's plumes. Costume suits that work fur and wool together are of outstanding importance. To unify the costume the fur coat or cape or bolero, as the case may be, is usually lined with the bright wool material of the dress. Many sports furs are worked out in this way in conjunction with gay plaid wools.

Dowager Type of Jewelry

Key-shaped bar pins and a revival in "dog collars" of the type worn by dowagers at the turn of the century head the list of new fall ideas in costume jewelry.

The key pins are shown in gold or silver-hued metals of several styles. The 1935 version of the "dog collar" has a youthful air, with a definite appeal to the college girl without a sign of a double chin or wrinkled throat.

One style was of rhinestone-studded links. Another was of three strands of pearls. The black velvet band in narrow or wide widths is back. One two-inch velvet band had a large rhinestone ornament in front. A one-half-inch band had a tiny rhinestone ornament in front and one in either side.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

Velvet is of great style significance.

Fashions are aglow with rich vibrant colors.

Designers continue to play up the hood theme.

Evening headpieces bridge both flowers and feathers into play.

Gray registers strong in both wools and furs.

Low square décolletage is shown in recent couturier showings.

Comfortable Shoes Are Necessary for Health

Many women especially young ones spoil their faces by squeezing their feet into uncomfortable shoes and walking in agony. That agony is usually expressed in the "victim's" face. Poor fitting shoes not only destroy beauty, but they destroy popularity, happiness and health. Don't forget that the shoes that are too tight or too short are apt to put lines across the forehead and a twist on the mouth. Continued wearing of improperly fitted shoes is certain to cause serious if not permanent foot troubles. By taking proper care of the feet, and that includes wearing comfortable shoes, gracefulness and beauty as well as the general health are promoted.

It's Tongue (Amorphophyllum)—flowers without soil or water; Hen and Chickens (Echeveria); Variegated Umbrella Plant; Velvet Plant (Gynura)—has handsome purple leaves; Twelve Disciples (Marica gracilis)—flowers from the side of the leaves; round leaved Bowstring Hemp (Sansevieria); Wire Plant (Muehlenbeckia complexa); Old Man Cactus (has long white hair over the plant); California Side Saddle Plant (Darlingtonia californica); Sea Onion (will flower without soil or water, and it is said to cure many ailments), and Tother of Thousands (Tolmie)—small plantlets appear growing on the leaves.

Ham and Sweet Potatoes Is Palatable Combination

Early American explorers found the Indians eating roots of a plant called "batatas" but which is now known as the sweet potato. Thus it has long been numbered among favorite American dishes. Although the sweet potato is no relation to the common white potato it is likewise rich in starch and much richer in vitamins, especially in vitamin A. These varieties bruise more easily than the white potato and require careful handling all the way from the field to the table. They may be prepared in many ways, alone and in combination with other foods. They are especially good with meat. Ham is so costly these days that all of us want to get the most enjoyment from it and one good way to do it is to smother it in sweet potatoes. Brown a slice of ham lightly on both sides and place in baking dish, spread sliced raw sweet potatoes over it and sugar. Add one cup hot water to the drippings and pour over them. Cover and bake until ham is tender, basting occasionally with the gravy.

Helpful Hints

After peeling and slicing your onions dip them in milk before frying. They will fry more readily.

To prevent sirup, etc., from boiling over the top of the saucepan, butter the pan around the top before putting in the sirup.

Melted fat should not be hot when added to cake mixture as it makes the cake heavy and tough.

Leather upholstery on furniture should be cleaned with a cloth moistened with linseed oil. The oil increases durability and prevents cracking.

Paint Before Winter

While there is no particular time of the year for the application of paint the householder who has allowed the spring and summer to slip by without attending to this important task should take time to apply such protection where it is needed before winter sets in. Danger spots, that is, places where wood has begun to weather or metal begun to rust should be painted promptly. The longer such work is delayed the more difficult and more expensive it becomes.

Make Fruit Cake Now for Holiday Season

It is not too early to think about that fruit cake for Thanksgiving or Christmas because a little aging makes it richer and gives the many ingredients an opportunity to blend their flavors. Here are the ingredients for a dark fruit cake:

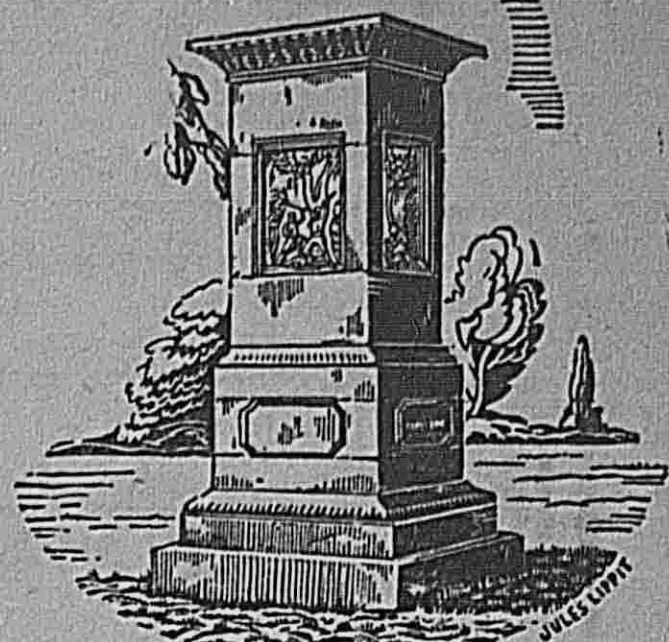

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup chopped seeded raisins
1/2 cup currants
1/2 cup thinly sliced citron
1/2 cup molasses
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon each of soda, allspice, mace and lemon extract
1/4 teaspoon cloves.

Cream the butter by working with a wooden spoon, add half the sugar gradually and beat together until light, add eggs and then the dry ingredients, alternately with milk. Beat thoroughly and bake in deep pan for about one and a quarter hours in a moderately slow oven.

Wooing Lady Luck

Everybody knows a four-leaf clover brings good luck to its finder. But four-leaf clovers that grow on the estate of the George Washingtons at Mt. Vernon seem to hold a special charm. Milestones of American Genius

DANIEL BOONE

THE glamor of Daniel Boone's romantic career of exploration and pioneering has lighted up vistas of achievement for many generations of American youth. The ideals for which his memory stands—self-reliance, daring, perseverance—have guided millions of Americans in their own undertakings.

Even in his lifetime Daniel Boone became an object of veneration at his home in what is now La Charette, Missouri, and the monument over his final resting place at Frankfort, Kentucky, still draws thousands of pilgrims annually. Representing as it does the intrepid spirit of the American westward movement, his character is a living force in American history.

Boone was born near Reading, Pa., probably on November 2, 1734. Little is known of his boyhood, but thrilling legends cluster about his trapping, hunting and exploration of virgin territories. His knowledge of woodcraft, his courage and his understanding of Indian ways led to his engagement by Judge Richard Henderson to explore the whole Kentucky area and to negotiate with the Cherokees for the purchase of a vast tract for settlement.

In that and other explorations, his endurance in the face of hardships, his resourcefulness, became the stuff of which national myths are made. He was a hero molded to the needs of a young and vigorous nation and remains the idol of American boys.

Boone lived to see the frontier which he had helped push westward advanced far beyond his boldest dreams. In his old age Congress recognized his pioneering services by granting him a small property in La Charette, where he pursued his robust life as a trapper and hunter until his death in 1820, at the age of 86.

Twenty-five years later, his remains and those of his wife were removed to Frankfort, Kentucky. The need to perpetuate remembrance of those whom the nation loves and admires is taken for granted by Americans, and it has encouraged tributes to Daniel Boone everywhere in the land. He was a great American conqueror, whose weapons were those of peace and skill.

TIME for bed. In some homes it is the time for scurrying around in the basement, banking fires, setting dampers, poking up, so that fires will last until morning. But in a gas heated home, time for bed brings none of this work and worry. Just sound sleep, unbroken by fears that fires will go out, that a chilly house awaits in the morning. With gas heat the house is warm when you wake, and there's no shivering trip to the basement at daybreak to tend furnaces.

Sleep hours longer

In thousands of homes men and women are sleeping hours longer in the morning, thanks to gas heat. The minute they wake they realize the joy of having this ideal, automatic heating system. The house is cozy and warm. There's no coal to shovel, no icy trips down basement stairs. No ashes to sift and haul. No messy, dirty jobs to start the day wrong.

Moreover, gas heat is clean. It eliminates hours of heart-breaking, back-wrenching toil. There's no constant scrubbing, no soot, no grime to keep you forever cleaning. With gas heat, the clean fuel, this drudgery from old-fashioned heating is banished.

On the first cold day you'll appreciate the comfort and convenience that gas heat can bring to your home. Learn about it now. This is an ideal time to install gas heat. Luxury that it is, you'll be surprised how little more it really costs. Call your Public Service office for complete details and for free estimate of what it would cost to heat your home with gas. Iron Codfish Monument

Robins Hood bay, Yorkshire, England, has an iron codfish monument into which pennies are dropped by villagers. The pennies collected are used to maintain a lifeboat, which has saved more than 40 lives.

American Spider's Largest

The largest known spiders are the American tarantulas, the South American species being 3 1/2 inches long. Its bulk is more than 100,000 times that of the smallest spider known.

The Scotch-Irish
Scotch-Irish are chiefly of Scotch descent, though they came to this country from Ireland. In 1611 King James I began colonizing Ulster, a barren and neglected part of Ireland, with people from Scotland and the northern part of England. They began migrating to America about the year 1730, and at the outbreak of the Revolutionary war about one-sixth of the population of the colonies was Scotch-Irish.

Plan to Compile Most Complete Horace's Poems

Cincinnati, Ohio.—Although he lived in the pre-Christian era, the writings of the great Roman poet, Horace, continue to be popular, according to Prof. Edward A. Henry, director of libraries at the University of Cincinnati. Henry and a committee aim to compile at the library of congress the most complete of all the Horace books in the United States and Canada.

In his studies Henry has noted that there have been at least 2,000 known editions of Horace during the years 1465 to 1900. More than 1,200 of these were printed in the Nineteenth century.

Scholars of Mainz, Germany, stepped ahead of those of Horace's birthplace. It seems. Editions of his "Carmina" appeared at Mainz in 1465 and 1466, but a Horace work, his "Opera," was not printed in Rome until 1471.

Records show at least 91 incunabula editions of Horace, that is, editions put out before the time of the printing press, according to Henry. He has reported his study in the Classical Journal.

Bald-Headed Man Wins a Free Permanent Wave

Calcutta.—Fortune has played queer tricks on some of the prize-winners in Calcutta's jubilee "dip," of which the final results have just been announced.

A completely bald business man has drawn a ticket entitling him to a free permanent wave, and a poverty-stricken coolie has won a cocktail shaker.

An Indian cook has, however, done better. He has received a permit to dine with a friend free of charge at one of Calcutta's most palatial hotels.

Russia Uncovers Radium Deposits in 2 Districts

Baku, U. S. S. R.—Radium, one of the rarest and most costly of minerals, has been found near Elendz in the Narimanov region of Azerbaidjan. Still other deposits were discovered in Kurdistan.
